INAUGURAL ADDRESS

by Mayor John F. Conrad

Gentlemen of the City Council:

In taking the oath of office as Mayor of Rochester for a third term I wish to congratulate you for the earnestness and honesty with which you have accomplished your task during the last year.

I wish to thank the Citizens of Rochester for the Honor they have conferred upon me and with their help and yours I hope we can accomplish results which will be a benefit to us all.

Public officials are elected for the purpose of representing the community, and all private considerations—personal feelings, preference and prejudices—must be set aside.

The most important duty of the Council this year is the adoption of a budget for the year 1939—I urge you to give it careful study in every detail so that we may inaugurate the most rigid economy.

During the year 1937 our increased assessed valuation was $113,000.00; this would not have been so had we not been able to maintain a reasonable tax rate as the increase came from new construction and 1938 will have a large increase in new construction also, therefore it behooves us to strive to keep our tax rate within the bounds of reason.

During the past two years we have resurfaced many new streets. Our efforts this year should be largely to preserve and maintain them by giving them another coat of oil for I consider it poor economy to build streets and then not give them the proper care and in a few years have to rebuild them all over.

The Hot Top Plant has been rebuilt at a cost of $1,546.14. We now have a plant that is worth more than double that amount.

Many of the cities and towns in New England are using hot top for sidewalks and I recommend that the ordinance requiring the abutters to pay half the cost of construction be repealed and that a liberal appropriation be made for the construction of Hot Top sidewalks on our side streets.

Street Lighting

During the past year I have taken the matter of street lighting up with the Public Service Commission and the Twin State Gas & Electric Co., and as a result of our efforts we are getting a one hundred per cent improvement in street lighting for the city proper and a contract at a lower cost than we were paying for formerly.

Purchasing Committee

Much criticism has been made that this committee was not properly functioning, now, let there be no misunderstanding this rule can and will be enforced.

Conclusion

I am not going to review all the work of the past year to any extent. Time alone will tell whether we acted wisely or otherwise.

I pledge myself to give you the best there is in me during the coming year and with the help of you Gentlemen of the Council the results will be as good as last year.

I thank you for your attention.

1. The drainage system shown on the original plans was omitted from the revised plans as it was necessary to reduce the cost of the project as much as possible, and it was thought that it could be safely omitted. However, as the work on excavation progressed, it became evident that this drainage system with additions was an engineering necessity. The estimated cost of the revised drainage systems is $10,000.00.

On lot No. 12 where the house, garage and cabins of Arthur Carl are relocated is required grading and surfacing with new loam around the cabins as the present soil is light sand which will not support a growth of grass, and our contract with the owner requires that his new lot should be placed in as good a condition as the lot he was moved from. This estimated cost of work is $2,500.00.

House No. 22 was purchased by the City, through the Building Committee, in connection with this Project, but arrangements for relocating it were not made until after the contract was let, so that it is necessary to have this work done on an extra work order. The estimated cost of this work is $2,000.00.

Because of the limitation in funds available, we are unable to provide for the full amount of equipment we consider entirely adequate for the building, nor can we plan for an entirely adequate layout and equipment of the athletic fields and landscaping program. We estimate that the additional equipment required for the building will cost $20,000.00, and the additional amount required for the athletic field and grounds will be $15,000.00.

REPORT OF CHIEF ENGINEER OF FIRE DEPARTMENT

To the Honorable Mayor and City Council:

I hereby submit my annual report for the year ending December 31, 1938.

The following alarms were answered by the department in the city proper: 18 bell alarms, 96 still alarms, 2 false alarms, 7 out of town calls, 10 auto fires, 29 brush and forest fires; East Rochester: 5 bell alarms, 10 still alarms, 2 false alarms, 3 brush and forest fires; Gonic: 4 bell alarms, 1 still alarm, 4 brush and forest fires, 1 auto fire; making a total of 192 alarms for the year.

We assisted on January 12th, West Lebanon, Me.; February 17th, Bow Lake; July 2nd, Barrington; August 12th, East Rochester; August 14th, Farmington; August 29th, Farmington; October 9th, Milton Mills; December 29, Farmington.

The estimated value of the buildings damaged by fire this year:

Value of buildings	$119,600 00
Insurance on same	182,000 00
Losses paid	10,897 44
Value contents	358,624 36
Insurance on same	328,701 00
Losses paid	27,472 35

There has been installed two fire alarm boxes, one corner Maple and Yale Streets, No. 18; the other at corner Washington and Oak Streets, No. 231, this year, also a great deal of repair work on the fire alarm system, partly due to the storm of September 21st.

I will recommend at this time as many new boxes installed in sections where the hydrants are, until the city is protected in the fire limits.

There has been added one 600-gallon pumper, 1 fresh air mask and 5 canister masks, 1 chemical for oil fires and 500 feet 1½" hose and 600 feet 2½".

In conclusion I will say that we need another permanent man at Central Station as the station is without anyone while at a general alarm, also during many of our stills.

At this time I wish to express my appreciation to His Honor, the Mayor and Members of the City Council, Committee on Fire Department, and Members of the Board of Engineers, also the members of the Department, and to the public which rendered us help in many ways. I extend my sincere thanks and appreciation for the aid and support rendered me during the year.

Respectfully submitted,

G. G. CUSHING,
Chief Engineer.

At a meeting of the trustees of the Rochester Public Library, December 29, 1938, it was voted that the report of the secretary, librarian and treasurer be presented to the city council as the annual report of the trustees for the year 1938.

REPORT OF LIBRARY TRUSTEES

To the Honorable Mayor and City Council:

Gentlemen:—The Board of Trustees of the Rochester Public Library respectfully submit to you the forty-fifth annual report of the trustees; also those of the librarian and city treasurer.

What the library has accomplished with its limited means, and how the money allotted by your honorable body has been expended can be seen by referring to the detailed reports of the librarian and city treasurer. We feel satisfied, and hope you will concur that the money has been spent most satisfactorily to meet the varied needs of an intelligent clientele.

In our opinion no library in the state has served its patrons so well. This is primarily due to the long experience and earnest efforts of the library staff. We thank them for their continued devoted service in a work so essential to the public good.

For the Trustees,

JOSEPH F. SWEET,

Secretary.

REPORT OF LIBRARIAN

To the Board of Trustees of the Rochester Public Library:

Gentlemen:—As the figures of the year have been assembled the amazing total of 102,233 represents the number of library books which have been given out during the year 1938.

Only 53,572 of the number, a little more than half, have been fiction. 1,879 have been issued to school pupils for required reading and fifty issued to teachers for school work. 9,514 magazines have been loaned to patrons for home use. A good investment for the small amount of money expended annually for periodicals. Your attention is called to the table of statistics for the many interesting facts and figures compiled from the reports of the year.

When one takes into consideration the very large books, even novels with their many pages, which seems to be the fashion of the day, the figures show that Rochester is a reading community and therefore an intelligent community, for it is a proven fact that a good reader shows a higher rate of intelligence than the non-reading individual. Even a reader of up-to-date fiction is gaining a knowledge of ethics, of world activities, customs old and new, life as it is lived to-day in this and other lands, as well as periods of history.

Readers and reference students, to the number of 18,115, have come and gone during the year. The magazines look well thumbed but for the most part readers are very careful and they surely appreciate the privilege.

In addition to furnishing books to patrons who come to the library and keeping an ever changing three hundred volumes at East Rochester, the library has kept the members at the Gafney Home in reading matter by supplying them with twenty-five books each month. It has given to Miss Bertha Allen of Walnut Grove all the discarded books she could use. These she has given to her neighbors who cannot come to the library or circulated them over and over as long as they have lasted.

For two weeks during the summer a student of library science at Simmons College did her practice work at the library and as much attention as possible was given to her. A group of Girl Scouts under their leader Mrs. Boone came to the library one afternoon to learn the care of books and how to repair them that they might earn a merit badge.

The summer reading course proved very popular. It was a trip to far-away-places. Round trip tickets were issued with the names of places which might be visited by means of library books, adapted to the different ages. The tickets were punched for each place visited and many names were placed on the Honor Roll for good reading. Prizes of books were given to the boy and girl in each division who did the best reading. This was in charge of Miss King who is doing very high grade work at the children's desk. These are only a few of the activities which have been carried on in addition to the regular work of the library.

The commendable work of the entire staff is worthy of mention. The two assistant librarians, Miss Foss who twenty-five years ago was the young woman at the children's desk and Miss Baril who twenty years ago began her library career as a helper at the delivery desk, have each in the most conscientious manner passed through the various stages of the work to their present positions. Miss King has been in charge of the children's work for seven years, and Miss Swaine as general assistant for six years is ready to pick up at all times the necessary tasks whether at circulating desks, reference work, repairing books or finding a place in the over crowded stack room for the books which are off the shelves. Mrs. Scott and Miss Arline King, the extra assistants, have become so proficient that at almost a moment's notice they can fill a vacancy on the staff or do any extra work required. It has been with the willing and efficient co-operation of the entire staff that the work of a busy year has been carried on.

The library has received many useful gifts during the year as you will see by the lists of gifts and donors. Chief among them is the legacy of $5,000 from the estate of the late Mrs. Sarah Young, the interest of which is to be used for books. Through the generosity of four interested patrons the library has now an endowment of $16,000. The income from that money for the fiscal year was $298.86 and that sum has purchased 140 books.

With the needs of school pupils provided for nine months of the year by a High School Library, money which has been used for necessary reference books and duplicate copies of books needed for required reading can be used for adult needs, such as up-to-date books for workers in every craft, trade and profession. These have been much in demand but as for the most part they are expensive books the library has been obliged to borrow from the State Library.

Does the governing body of the city ever think of the immense amount of work which is going on at the library? Never an idle minute. An influential citizen who has had opportunity at times to watch the coming and going of patrons with their books, said recently that, he thought the public library was the busiest place in town.

Do they ever think that the reading interests of the people from pre-school age on to the last of life are provided for, through the books on the library shelves? Only a small proportion of the citizens are able to purchase books which they want. Books must therefore be provided for every age not for recreation and amusement alone but for information and study.

The library books are housed in a building provided by a stranger's generosity and supposed to be adequate for twenty-five thousand volumes. The library now numbers 36,117 accessioned volumes and many thousands of volumes unaccessioned such as magazines. There are many books which cannot be properly shelved.

The trustees and the librarian have done their part in building up a library of which strangers say, the city has reason to be proud. Is it not up to the Mayor, the Council and the citizens to provide adequate housing, and an adequate income that the present standard may be maintained?

I wish at this time to express my grateful thanks to the trustees for their kindness, the assistants for their helpful co-operation and to all who have shown their appreciation of the library by their kind words, their gifts of books, periodicals, curios and flowers.

Respectfully submitted,

LILLIAN E. PARSHLEY,

Librarian.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the Rochester School Board:

The report now submitted for your information and consideration is the sixth under my supervision and the forty-seventh in the series of such reports. Reports of the Headmaster of the High School and the School Nurse are included in the general survey of work of the school department during the past year. Statistical tables have been omitted so far as possible in order to make a more enjoyable, and at the same time, an informative presentation of school affairs.

Our attention is now centered in the new high school rapidly nearing completion and in which one half of our entire public school population will be housed next September. Many school problems will assume new significance when the reorganization of our system is accomplished and they will be discussed from that point of view.

TRANSPORTATION

All transportation contracts except one will expire at the end of the school year in June. Since the plan of awarding contracts for a three-year period offers advantages and economies not otherwise possible, it seems that new contracts should be let for the same length of time. It is my judgment that the business of transportation ought to be settled before the school board recesses for the summer months so that recommendations submitted by the Transportation Committee may be acted on by the full board. The following list includes important points to be carefully weighed in reaching a final decision on new contracts.

1. Desirability of standard school bus equipment on all routes.
2. Separation of sentiment from common sense in treatment of transportation.
3. Possible elimination and consolidation of routes.

4. Increased costs due to transportation of all pupils in grades seven and eight to the new school.
5. Adjustment of time schedule in the light of daily time-table in the new school.

TEACHERS—NEW AND TRANSFERRED

Including the headmaster there are eighteen teachers in our high school. There are nine teachers in grades seven and eight as we are now organized in five elementary buildings. To each one of them should be given an opportunity to transfer to the new school if they choose so to do. We therefore have available for high school teaching a total of twenty-six teachers besides the headmaster. Since we ought to have a minimum teaching force of thirty-two, exclusive of headmaster and office assistant, six new teachers must be added in order properly to present the work which the Board will be asked to approve. With that number of full-time teachers our teaching load will be about the same as in other schools of our size. In order to present an adequate physical education program, it may be desirable to employ a part-time teacher for girls' activities including basketball coaching.

SUGGESTED HIGH SCHOOL PROGRAM

Our offerings in grades seven and eight are those fixed by the state for all schools approved as standard junior high schools. In grades nine to twelve the suggested work represents what we believe to be a proper balance between our actual needs and the amount of teacher time available. The following points should be noted in an appraisal of the proposed program:

1. The field of science is strengthened by the addition of physiography and biology.
2. General shop work for boys and an opportunity to get a year and a half of either auto, electric, machine, or wood working experience afford better training than heretofore.
3. Definite well planned physical education for all high school members will serve the double purpose of health building and character development.

DAILY TIME TABLE

The determination of a daily time table is closely tied up with the problem of school transportation and how best to give each pupil the maximum benefit from the new school plant. In order to provide for the extended activities contemplated our school day must be slightly longer than at present. The most satisfactory time allotment thus far planned is set forth in the following schedule.

Three class periods of 40 minutes each, an activities period of 35 minutes, two class and lunch periods of 55 minutes each, and two class periods of 40 minutes. A two-minute interval is allowed between classes in order that the net time of each class period may meet state requirements. The time of opening the high school session should not be earlier than 8:30 nor later than 8:45. The time of closing would then be 2:26 or 2:41. Provision is made in the proposed daily schedule for an activities period during which pupils may take part in extra-curricular enterprises hitherto open only to those who could give time outside of school hours. In fact every pupil will be expected to take part in at least one activity. The two 55-minute periods allow lunch time for pupils who wish to patronize the cafeteria or who live near enough to the school to eat at home in 55 minutes.

The above time table is arranged to harmonize with transportation, to provide for those pupils whose lunch period must be spent at the school, and to permit participation in school activities which would be denied to many unless regular school time can be utilized. Both the proposed program of work and the daily time table have been examined and discussed by teachers of the high school and upper grades who find them very satisfactory. In fact the opinions and suggestions of teachers were embodied in the program and time table presented.

JANITOR SERVICE

Our present high school requires the services of two janitors. The new school will require at least two additional janitors and possibly three. Public interest and desire for this type of employment are evidenced by the number of applications now on file. The extra help will be needed to care for additional floor space in the new building, night duty when school facilities are more extensively used, and grounds maintenance. While a wide range of choice tends to insure better success in the selection of new employees, it also means that more applicants face disappointment in not being the fortunate ones.

HEALTH PROMOTION

Whenever we have an opportunity to advance health service for our school children it seems to me that we are laying the best foundation for all other educational building. In September 1938 we were able to offer thorough physical examinations to pupils of the first four grades whose parents were willing to accept such service. The discovery of physical defects is important but the correction of those defects is vastly more significant and valuable to the child. Our schools can aid in the discovery of needed corrections but parents must be responsible for final accomplishments.

Two optometrists offered their services in making a complete visual analysis of each school child in the public school system. After careful consideration of these offers by the School Nurse and the School Physician we decided to accept that made by Dr. Davis and Dr. Weathers in the case of children about whom the nurse had some doubts following her own testing program. Dr. Potter's offer was equally generous but it followed the one accepted.

The next advance in promotion of health should be in dentistry. The health unit of the new school will be equipped for dental work which ought to be made available for elementary pupils. The purpose of such service is to acquaint children with the value and necessity for dental care and to see that no child in need of dentistry is neglected. A dental unit properly organized will not interfere with the private practice of local dentists and it will not furnish free service to those who are able to pay. While it is inadvisable to attempt to measure the value of educational or health service in terms of dollars and cents there can be no doubt that such efforts have both material and aesthetic values. Let one who doubts this ask himself which of two applicants he would employ if one possessed a neglected, unsightly set of teeth and the other an appearance reflecting good care and attention.

NEW READING SYSTEM

With the beginning of school in September a new reading system was put into use by the adoption of "Guidance in Reading."

For several years the only basal reading used was in grade 1, after which a miscellaneous collection of reading materials was followed. While the system gave very fine results for beginners, the lack of continuity of plan and method in later grades presented a situation that called for correction. Any accepted reading series will give best results when continued through at least the first four grades closely following the plan of the authors. Our new reading was introduced into grades one and two in September 1938 and should be extended through grade four in 1939. We believe that the adoption of a unified reading plan, chosen by vote of the teachers who will use it, will overcome many reading difficulties which appear in later grades. Reading progress of pupils thus far this year is highly satisfactory and teachers welcome the change from a system which was subject to the monotony of continued use.

REPORT CARDS

In my report of a year ago there was a discussion of the new plan of reporting pupil progress which was put into use in September 1937. After a full year of experience we are convinced that the plan is fundamentally sound and that it meets with the approval of most parents. In fact some parents have told me that the effect on their children is what we hoped it would be and that there is a change in attitude toward effort and individual accomplishment. The employment manager of a large Massachusetts corporation has examined our report card and very generously commended its principal features, especially that part which stresses school citizenship. His desire to have a similar report of his own child's school growth and progress suggests that the Rochester plan has some merit.

INDUSTRY AND EDUCATION

Schools belong to the public. All who are employed in any capacity in the operation of our schools are merely incidental to the important business of public education. With a full realization of the responsibility of our schools to meet public needs, a new plan of cooperative effort was put under way in October.

Early in the month an invitation was extended to the heads of local business establishments to meet with school officials for an exchange of opinion and recommendations from prospective employers of our pupils. Eleven business executives including the president and the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce came to a conference in a spirit of friendly cooperation. Among the desirable qualities which employers would like to find in their employees the ten following stated by the executives seemed most important.

1. Ambition.
2. Accuracy.
3. Good penmanship.
4. Knowledge of how to apply for a job.
5. Ability to hold a job.
6. Ability to think for one's self.
7. Willingness to become more valuable to the employer by learning about the job being done and to contribute ideas and suggestions.
8. To expect advancement after, rather than before, learning a trade and acquiring experience.
9. Willingness to recognize the dignity of small jobs as a necessary part of industry.
10. Desire to learn, improve and advance.

The information thus obtained will be used directly in strengthening high school courses now offered and, in addition, we shall write an entirely new course of instruction for high school classes. That course will be based on material and needs peculiar to Rochester. The object will be to promote a better social, economic and civic adjustment of our high school membership.

The work of writing the new course is now being carried on by a committee of twenty-five picked members who are gathering information and interviewing industrial heads in the city for material on which to base the course. When completed, the new course will be known as the "Industrial History and Development of Rochester." It will be subject to annual revision and extension to bring it into line with changing conditions in the city. It is expected that this new undertaking will cement a closer relationship between our schools and the supporting public and, at the same time, impress on the minds of pupils that their school experience has a vital bearing on future progress.

REPAIRS AND UPKEEP

You have frequently been told that my aim from the beginning of my service in Rochester has been to bring our school buildings to a state of repair that will permit the adoption of a systematic program of maintenance. Although our plan is not so far advanced as we might wish, it seems that we may reasonably expect to put it into effect in 1939. By that plan we propose to do a thorough repair job in two buildings each year, giving attention only to urgent and emergency needs in other buildings. It is my opinion that we shall realize greater value from each repair dollar expended under a definite system. The reason why we are not firmly established as outlined above is because for the past two years reductions in the school budget had to be absorbed largely in the amount available for school-houses and grounds, since other items in the budget were figured too closely to permit any substantial reduction. The proper maintenance of our school property is not only a matter of economical business management but also one of far-reaching effect on the attitudes of children who observe our care of property.

UNGRADED CLASSES

So far as available space is concerned the most serious obstacle in the way of better attention to individual instruction of children will disappear when the two upper grade rooms are vacated in our elementary schools. Although the need for special instruction has been great, we have had no rooms in which such work could be organized. It is now my hope that this very important addition can be made.

While it is true that all people are created equal in their rights, both natural and social, it is not true that all people are created equal in natural ability and speed of accomplishment. For that reason, there are in every school system some pupils who are unable to progress with the majority and who find themselves uncomfortably conspicuous because of failure. Chronological age and physical growth make it imperative that such children be moved along after two years in a grade even though scholastic success can hardly support the step. Each successive advancement sees the individual more incapable of doing the work of his group and more depressed by continued failure until all interest in school is lost. Rochester has its share of these unhappy pupils.

What we most need for such children is a place where each one may work at his own rate and on the level determined by his ability. For many children the time is lost that is spent trying to master work beyond their ability to achieve or that will not bear directly on their future experiences.

When placed in the environment of small ungraded class groups our slow moving pupils would be freed from the crushing effect of perpetual failure. They would no longer feel the sting of unfair competition but would know the satisfaction of accomplishing proper tasks set for them without reference to grade placement.

PROFESSIONAL IMPROVEMENT

Our teachers are keeping in touch with educational progress in several ways. In the summer of 1938, thirty-one teachers attended summer sessions in college or normal school, while two teachers engaged in extensive travel. Many teachers carry on professional improvement work during the school year by attendance at Saturday courses. It is not our policy to accept two consecutive offerings of travel for credit because we believe that travel and formal study make a much broader program than either one alone.

Professional growth is still further promoted by discussion and reading. In our teachers' meetings we discuss such topics as teaching pupils how to study, no retardation in June, improvement of reading as well as some administrative problems.

Several discussion groups met without anyone in attendance except the teachers themselves. Every teacher is required to read three professional books per year. Department requirements and their own initiative have combined to give Rochester a corps of teachers who are a credit to their profession.

FUNDAMENTAL OBJECTIVES

The organization and operation of Rochester schools are built around the following educational objectives which we believe to be fundamental to all public education.

1. Sound business administration of school affairs.
2. Recognition of the rights and opinions of public school patrons.
3. Procedures which educational practice recognizes as acceptable.
4. Adjustment of educational plans to harmonize with local needs.
5. The establishment of right habits and attitudes in those whom we prepare for citizenship.

To the end that these objectives may be more nearly accomplished we invite comment, suggestion, and constructive criticism.

Whatever the 1938 record of accomplishment may hold is due to the untiring efforts of teachers, the friendly help of parents, and School Board support. For all these we are grateful. They serve only to make us more keenly aware of the responsibility of all those who have a part in wholesome child development.

The reports of Headmaster Peavey and the School Nurse are worthy of your careful attention.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR S. ROLLINS,
Superintendent of Schools

REPORT OF HEADMASTER OF HIGH SCHOOL

February 1, 1938

Mr. Arthur S. Rollins, Superintendent of Schools:

Dear Sir :

I herewith submit my third annual report as Headmaster of Rochester High School.

This report will consider in detail the various activities undertaken in the high school this past year for the purpose of developing better citizenship. Our most important obligation to society is that of producing better trained citizens, and since, with the exception of one or two of the content subjects, we do not teach citizenship directly, we have felt it essential to introduce these activities.

We have considered as essential the need for developing certain attitudes towards citizenship such as the following :

1. The personal responsibility of the individual towards his group, his community and his country.
2. The importance of character and personality as factors in intelligent participation in community and civic affairs.
3. The value of information regarding Rochester, its industries, and the opportunities they offer for employment to high school graduates.
4. The need for an evaluation of one's aptitudes and abilities so that he may find a satisfactory place for himself in his community and society later on.
5. Inculcating certain concepts and understandings towards the study and analysis of problems.
6. The necessity of keeping alive the work in the fundamentals so that these important tools of intelligent citizenship may not be forgotten.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

This organization, consisting of sixteen students elected by the four classes, has been given the responsibility for the proper operation of certain activities about the building. This council has been functioning for about a year. It has assumed the responsibility for the passing of students in the corridors, the control of the cafeteria, and the control of certain study halls.

This work has been experimental, but its objectives are to develop responsibility on the part of children. If we are able to train our students to accept responsibility in their school life the possibility of their coming to be more responsible citizens in their community life later on is greatly enhanced.

I feel that many of our students are responding to the challenge which has been given them to govern themselves.

HOME ROOM PROGRAMS

Our work in character building and personality development has been thought of in terms of the importance of these qualities in our civilization today.

This past year we have attempted a series of daily ten minute discussions during the home room period designed to emphasize character and personality traits. At first the discussions were based upon problems about the school but the emphasis for the remainder of the year will be on other types of problems.

Each of the four classes is studying different material. The freshmen are studying moral and ethical concepts through the use of case studies with discussion. Our sophomores are studying hobbies and their relationship to worth-while use of leisure time both during school years and past school years as well. Our juniors are analyzing vocations and the possibilities of worth-while civic participation through the different vocations. The seniors are considering those qualities and characteristics which the job-seeker must have in order to be successful in his search.

"INDUSTRIAL ROCHESTER" STUDY

We have been faced for several years with a condition in which children, upon graduating from school, are unable to find jobs. This condition has, of course, been nation-wide and the schools have done little to prepare children for the unhappy experience of learning that their services are not needed by industry.

To secure information about local industrial concerns, their histories, their benefits to Rochester, and the opportunities they offer for employment to Rochester youth, we have been conducting a study of Rochester's industries this past year.

A group of seniors under the supervision of Mr. O'Leary has undertaken this work voluntarily as an extra assignment. The results of the survey are being collected and we hope that this material may serve as a basis for a course another year as part of our guidance work. Since good community citizenship requires an understanding of the different units which comprise the community we hope that this work will prove to be a real value in the years to come.

GROUP AND INDIVIDUAL GUIDANCE

In an age of specialization, one of the functions of the school should be closely related to the educational and vocational needs of the children. Too frequently in the past students have missed many of the values of their education because of a lack of direction, and they have gone out into the world without well-defined objectives for the future.

Commencing with group discussions and individual conferences with freshmen, several of our teachers have helped pupils find partial answers at least to some of the perplexing educational and vocational problems which are troubling them.

This program has had to be informal in nature because of the limitations of time and because the work has to be, by its very nature, largely individual. Intelligent choice of curriculum offerings can be made only after conferences in which consideration of the abilities, interests, ideals, knowledge, and habits of the individual pupil has been taken into account.

In like manner wise post-secondary choices either of a vocational or educational nature need similar careful analysis and thought.

Our objective in this work is to be able eventually to provide a program in which every pupil will have opportunities for regular systematic conferences with his adviser throughout the year.

ORIENTING COURSE FOR FRESHMEN

Each freshman has been required to spend two periods each week in a class on "Study methods and practices." The contrast between the high school environment and that in the grades is so great that often, new pupils have difficulty in adjusting themselves to the new situation. These classes were designed to help overcome this difficulty and at the same time to provide an opportunity for discussion between teacher and pupils of some of the difficulties they encounter in studying their lessons. Our pupils' schedules require at least two hours of home study daily, and frequently, suggestions and help can be given in these classes to those pupils who have not yet learned how to go about their home study with a minimum of wasted time and effort.

Just as adults are faced constantly with life situations and problems which must be solved, these children are faced with study problems as well.

Since the solution of problems is facilitated by training in ability to analyze, to comprehend, to investigate, and to draw conclusions, it seems almost essential that particular attention be given to these matters during the high school life of the child. We hope that attention to these matters will help to produce better citizens in the years to come.

FUNDAMENTALS

One of the functions of the elementary school is to train children in the fundamentals. Frequently in the past, it has been assumed that once the individual learns these fundamentals he will retain them for the rest of his life. Practically, it has not worked out that way, and the testing we have done indicated the need for drill in the high school in such fields as penmanship, arithmetic, spelling, grammar, and place geography.

The implications, as far as citizenship is concerned, of this situation demand that we give these children first of all, before we try to give them anything else, drill in these fundamentals until they are up to standard. One of the greatest criticisms of secondary education today is that our graduates going out are not able to apply simple fundamentals in their everyday life.

We have provided one period a week for nearly all our children when they may receive training in these subjects. The work has been conducted as in any other class and when children have been able successfully to pass certain examinations they are excused from further participation in this work. We have found that those children who, because of handicaps of one sort or another, are not able to achieve successfully in the formal courses of study are at least being given an opportunity to progress in the fundamentals.

The above discussion is an indication of what I consider to be one of our most important obligations in the school. I feel that we have made a start in the right direction. Our faculty is cooperating to make this program meaningful to the children and to produce results in terms of better citizenship. It is gratifying to us to observe the spirit of cooperation which our pupils show.

Respectfully submitted,

CARROLL W. PEAVEY,
Headmaster.
